Abstract

HARP is the project of building and sustaining a shared repository with national, public, and private university libraries in Hiroshima prefecture. The aim of HARP is to promote open access by providing a shared repository to medium or small universities which have difficulties establishing their own repository by themselves. After nine months trial starting in October 2006, HARP became an official project of the Hiroshima Association of University Libraries (HAUL). We plan to launch our shared repository in April 2008 with 13 university libraries. Our model is as follows: 1) A member of HAUL is required to participate in our repository. The membership fee is about 30 thousands yen (273USD) per year (It is a case of 13 institutions. The fee changes depending on the number of partner institutions) 2) Repository server is hosted at Hiroshima University Library. Partner institutions can deposit their content. 3) Partner institutions can share knowledge and experiences of IR through the mailing list and regular workshops of Shared Repository Committee, HAUL.

Keys to Success

- Sustainability
- Adequate support
- Low cost
- Information exchanges
- Less work
- Good teamwork
- Two heads are better than one
- Passions

Issues to Consider

- What do we do to sustain the shared repository?
- How can we recruit content?
- What possible support can be provided for partner institutions?
- How match repository customization each partner institution require?
- How can we get more partner institutions?
